Self profile:

Intelligence quotient:

Linguistic intelligence.	13
Logical-mathematical intelligence.	19
Musical intelligence.	13
Spatial intelligence.	17
Bodily-kinesthetic intelligence.	18
Interpersonal intelligence.	12
Intrapersonal intelligence.	18

Linguistic intelligence.

As expected in linguistic intelligence I am very weak and I did not write something that I am especially proud of instead at school time, studies in my native language were easy for me, and I can understand conceptual topics in my native language easily.

Logical-mathematical intelligence.

I can solve complex logical problems and am good at mathematics. As expected in actuality I got the highest marks in logical-mathematics intelligence.

Musical intelligence.

I don't like all types of music, as in the first statement after hearing a tune once or twice I am not able to sing or memorize.

Spatial intelligence.

I can form illustrative pictures or designs in my mind and it is easy for me to conceptualize complex patterns. I can solve steps of mathematical problems in my mind first before proceeding.

Bodily-kinesthetic intelligence.

My scores in bodily-kinesthetic intelligence suggest that I have good visual-spatial skills and coordination, and may enjoy activities such as building, or sports. I am good at handicrafts and I love it.

Interpersonal intelligence.

My score in interpersonal abilities suggests that I have some difficulties to understand and connect with others. This may involve developing my communication skills, as well as learning how to listen actively, build rapport, and establish trust with others.

Intrapersonal intelligence.

I was not expecting 18 score in intrapersonal intelligence, I was expecting some points less than the actual score any way my score in intrapersonal intelligence suggests that I have a strong understanding of my own emotions, motivations, and goals. I may be reflective, introspective, and able to identify my own strengths and weaknesses.

Emotional quotient:

Self-awareness	42
Managing emotions	39
Motivating oneself	36
Empathy	42
Social Skill	32

Self-awareness and empathy:

I have a high level of self-awareness and empathy than in other areas like managing emotion, motivating oneself, and social skills, which are important components of emotional intelligence. My scores in these areas suggest that I am generally aware of my own emotions and how they may impact others and that I am able to understand and appreciate the perspectives and feelings of others.

Managing emotions:

My score in managing emotions suggests that I may have some difficulty regulating my emotions in certain situations. I was expecting a more than 40 score but I obtain less than 40 so my expectation is not to meet the actual score. I thought I am quite good at managing emotions.

Motivating oneself:

In motivating oneself I scored 36 which is I think not good as I expected. I was expecting more in motivating oneself but in actuality, it was less. So my score in motivating oneself suggests that I have some difficulties in motivating myself.

Social skill:

Finally, my score in social skills suggests that I am very weak in social skills. As I expected in social skills I have a minimum score in the test because I know I have difficulties with social skills.

Overall, it's important to remember that emotional intelligence is a complex and multi-dimensional concept and that a single test score may not provide a complete picture of my emotional intelligence or potential for growth.
